The Hamilton Family

A Bibliographic Guide to Resources

Books, articles, dissertations, manuscripts, and online resources

Compiled and edited by Malcolm Cowan Hamilton, © May 2010

There are thousands of works that mention persons, places, or things named Hamilton. The following bibliography lists only those that deal exclusively or in a substantial way with the Hamilton family.

In any bibliographic work that is devoted to one specific family or clan, a great many of the subject and author entries will begin with that name. This work is no exception. To avoid confusing the user, the subjects beginning with the word “Hamilton” have been divided into four subcategories. Otherwise, this bibliography is arranged alphabetically from Abercorn to Williamson, but with “Hamilton” divided as follows.

1) The names of individual persons as the subjects of the work, for instance:

Hamilton, Andrew, d. 1709
Hamilton, Edith, 1867-1963
Hamilton, Maxwell, 1821-1894
Hamilton, Sarah
Etc.

2) Hamilton family: This term is used for works on Hamiltons in Great Britain and Northern Ireland and for general materials about the Hamilton family, for which it has not been possible to determine further subdivisions.

3) Hamilton family subdivided geographically, for instance:

Hamilton family—Australia
Hamilton family—Canada (see also Nova Scotia)
Hamilton family—Ireland
Hamilton family—New Zealand
Hamilton family—Northern Ireland
Hamilton family—Nova Scotia
Hamilton family—U.S.
Hamilton family—U.S. (Alabama)
Hamilton family—U.S. (North Carolina)
Etc.

4) Places and things:

Clan Hamilton Society
Hamilton family periodicals
Hamilton Palace
Scots—North Carolina
Etc.

Many books and articles appear several times in this index under more than one subject, depending upon the scope of the work. An index to the authors of these works follows in a separate section at the end.

An alphabetical list of the authors of these works, when known, follows in a separate Author Index. Frequently notes and indications of the extent of the works in pages, leaves, or volumes, are given only with the author entry to save space from repeating this information several times under various subjects in the Subject Index.

Spelling is reproduced as it is found in the individual works and may not be consistent with modern conventions or with those in other publications listed here. When there is an obvious misspelling the Latin “sic” [thus] has been added to acknowledge the error.

Where possible, dates have been added to distinguish persons of the same name from one another. Birth and/or death dates are given when known. Otherwise a date or dates are given when the person is known to have been alive—or flourishing (fl.).

Most of the books, manuscripts, articles, dissertations, and other materials listed in this bibliography have been located in one or more of the libraries listed below. Users will also find many of them in other collections. Not all of these items have been consulted personally by the compiler of this bibliography, but are listed to assist other Hamilton family historians in their searches.

.....Notes: v. 1- ,1877- This covers the migration that commenced in 1585 of around ten thousand Scots, including Hamiltons, from the Lowlands of Scotland to Ulster, Ireland. Between 1680 and 1735 many of the Irish Hamiltons migrated to America. The author's ancestor landed in New Castle, Delaware in 1735 and moved on to Pennsylvania where he and his descendants became prosperous land owners. He traces his own ancestry back to the original migration out of Scotland

Location: Schlesinger | MC 278/M-24; 84-M210, 83-M175

Notes: Manuscript Collection: Arranged in four series:

I. First two generations.

II. Children and grandchildren of Allen and Emerine Hamilton.

III. Other correspondence and miscellaneous writings.

IV. Photographs.

This branch of the Hamilton family in the U.S. begins with Allen Hamilton, who emigrated from Northern Ireland in the early 19th century, settled in what became Fort Wayne, Indiana, and married Emerine Jane Holman.

They had five surviving children and a number of grandchildren, including the physician, Alice Hamilton, the classicist, Edith Hamilton, Jessie Hamilton, an artist and founder of the Fort Wayne Art School, and Agnes Hamilton, a settlement house worker.

The collection consists primarily of correspondence, but also includes many photographs and some writings and drawings. Relationships among five generations of a family for over 150 years are documented. The most complete group of letters are those between the sisters, Jessie and Agnes Hamilton. There are also many letters by their cousins, Edith and Alice, which contain personal observations on Alice's career, and Alice's letters to Katharine Putnam Bowditch Codman.

The original collection is available on microfilm (M-24, 34 reels, 35 mm.) from Schlesinger Library, Radcliffe College (Harvard) through interlibrary loan.

There is related material: Alice Hamilton Papers (A-22) and Edith Hamilton Papers, at Schlesinger Library (Harvard).

There is related material: Hamilton Family Business Papers at Indiana State Archives.

Ruffin, Roulhac, and Hamilton Family Papers, 1784-1957 (Bulk 1823-1890). 7.5 linear feet.

Location: University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, Southern Historical Collection, #643.

Notes: Correspondence, financial and legal papers, account books, photographs, and other items, chiefly 1823-1890, relating to members of the Ruffin, Roulhac and Hamilton families and their friends and associates. The papers relate to routine family matters and everyday life, and, to a lesser extent, to business matters, including Ruffin plantations in North Carolina and Joseph Blount Gregoire Roulhac's career as a merchant in Raleigh, N.C.; to the Civil War and Reconstruction; and to various public concerns. There are few items relating to Thomas Ruffin's legal and judicial career.

Location: Schlesinger: MC 384

Notes: A teacher of biology and zoology, Madeleine Parker Grant was born in Boston, to George Babson Grant and Ellen Henry Parker Grant. She received her B.S. from Simmons College (1916), and her M.A. (1924) and Ph.D. (1932) in biology from Radcliffe College. She taught at Bryn Mawr Summer School for Women Workers, the Hudson Shore Labor School, Mount Holyoke College, Smith College, and the Marine Biological Laboratory at Woods Hole (Mass.) before joining the faculty of Sarah Lawrence College, where she spent most of her career. In addition to scholarly books and articles in her field, she wrote several books for young adults, including Wonder World of Microbes (1956) and a biography of Louis Pasteur.

In 1959 Grant began a study of Dr. Alice Hamilton, pioneer industrial toxicologist. Grant worked closely with Hamilton and her sister Margaret, who gave Grant some of the materials in this collection. Alice Hamilton: Pioneer Doctor in Industrial Medicine was published in 1967. Grant died in 1981.

Collection contains Grant's correspondence with Alice and Margaret Hamilton, associates of Connecticut College (which had in 1962 named a new dormitory for Edith and Alice Hamilton), and numerous others primarily about Hamilton's life and health, and about the research for, and publication of the book. Included are photographs of Hamilton and others, articles by and about Hamilton, and reviews of the biography.

Notes: v. 1-,1877- This covers the migration that commenced in 1585 of around ten thousand Scots, including Hamiltons, from the Lowlands of Scotland to Ulster, Ireland. Between 1680 and 1735 many of the Irish Hamiltons migrated to America. The author's ancestor landed in New Castle, Delaware in 1735 and moved on to Pennsylvania where he and his descendants became prosperous land owners. He traces his own ancestry back to the original migration out of Scotland.

Notes: Letters to Eli Spinks Hamilton from his sons, Oliver Clark Hamilton, with the 38th N.C. Regiment

(Pender's Brigade, A.P. Hill's Division), and Calier G. Hamilton, with the 12th and 38th N.C. regiments. Thirteen letters from Oliver Hamilton, tell of his position in northern Virginia during 1862-1863, fighting, camp life, health, prices of food and daily necessities, news of friends, marches and travel, and his opinion of the morale and fighting spirit of the troops and officers. Two letters, dated April and May 1864, tell of being transferred to the Navy for service on the ironclad "Fredericksburg" in the James River between Richmond and the Federal fleet. Calier Hamilton's twenty-four letters were written from his training camp near Raleigh, N.C., in July 1861, and then from the Potomac River and Fredericksburg area, where he was with Co. L, 12th N.C. Volunteer Regiment. These letters describe weather conditions, the health of his company, drilling, goods received from home, camp life, his bout with rheumatism and fever, and his transfer to the 38th N.C. Regiment in the winter of 1862-1863. Later letters mention some fighting, his company's casualties, and the death of Stonewall Jackson

Notes: The Hamilton papers document the life and times of the family of John Hamilton, a planter from Port Tobacco in Charles County, Maryland. The Hamiltons were descendants of John Hamilton, a Roman Catholic immigrant who settled in Charles County, Maryland, in 1674. By the early nineteenth century, Hamilton's progeny were affluent planters and landholders in Charles County. According to the 1860 United States census, John Hamilton (1798-1883), the great-great grandson of the immigrant, owned nearly ninety slaves and held land valued at $75,000 (about $2 million today). Hamilton's farming ventures focused mostly on the production of tobacco and other crops.

Notes: "The mss. are without name or date, but contain internal evidence of having been written by a member of the Hamilton family, about the latter end of the 17th century, and certainly prior to the year 1703...the editor has come to the conclusion, from the internal evidence...that it was Mr. William Hamilton, of Edinburgh, who was their author. He died about the year 1712, at Killileagh castle." --[introd.] Includes "Pedigree of the Hamilton family" p. 158-166.

From another source: The following MSS. are without name or date, but contain internal evidence of having been written by a member of the Hamilton Family, about the latter end of the 17th century, and certainly prior to the year 1703, in which the death of one of the family occurred, who is mentioned in them as being alive at the time they were written. They were, therefore, composed almost contemporaneously with the celebrated Montgomery MSS. (written between the years 1698 and 1704), and with which the narrative contained in them is intimately connected. The originals are in the possession of the family of the late well-known Archibald Hamilton Rowan, Esq., of Killyleagh Castle, " County of Down, who entrusted them to their present Editor, in the year 1834, fo^ publication ' at some fature time, with a request that he would illustrate them with any observations he might ' consider necessary. The mass of valuable facts and documents which the Editor has since collected " for this purpose, and which, in the few leisure intervals of a busy professional life, he has been able " to connect with the MS., in the form of Notes:, will best prove the manner in which he has fulfilled " the trust. We have great satisfaction in being made the medium of first communicating these '^^' curious papers to the public in the pages of our Journal."
